JACOB B. PROBST, bishop of Midway Ward No. 2 in the Church of the Latter Day Saints, has been not only an earnest churchman but one of the most successful citizens and business men in Wasatch County.

Mr. Probst was born in Switzerland, January 3, 1864, son of John Ulrich and Anna Barbara (Kienz) Probst. He was eight years of age when his parents came to America, in 1872, and settled in Wasatch County, Utah. On the farm of his parents Mr. Probst spent his early years, attending local schools and the Brigham Young University at Provo. Since leaving college his chief business has been farming, stock raising and merchandising. He built up an extensive estate as a stock raiser and irrigation farmer and for a number of years was manager of the local cooperative store.

As a young man he went back to his native land and spent two and a half years in missionary duty there and in Germany. His service as bishop of the Midway Ward covers a period of over twenty-nine years, since 1903. For three years he was also stake high counselor. Mr. Probst is a Republican, was for four years county commissioner, assessor six years, member of the town council eight years, and for two years a justice of the peace. But brief enumeration of services and positions held is all that is necessary to establish his identity as one of the men of mark in modern Utah.

Mr. Probst married in September, 1891, Miss Mary M. Huber. She was born in Wasatch County, but her parents, John and Mary M. (Munz) Huber, came from Switzerland to America in 1863 and crossed the plains to Utah with ox teams. Mr. and Mrs. Probst have two living children. The son Carl L. married Carrie Wright, of Hinckley, Utah. The son Vernon H. has active charge of his father's farm. The three deceased children were named Leah, Estella and Stanley.

JOHN ULRICH AND SUSANNA GERTSCH PROBST

BEAUTIFUL UPON THE MOUNTAINS

John Probst came to Midway July 4, 1872 with his parents. They built a log house with a dirt roof up the Snake Creek. His schooling consisted of three years in Switzerland, some time in the old Midway School, and three winters in the German Hall. He also spent three months at the Brigham Young Academy in Provo.

He worked in the mountains chopping and hauling timber and cordwood for the mines in Park City. For about two and one-half years, he worked in the same business at Snyderville. Three years were spent in the white pines. A log cabin was built by John Buehler Sr. and himself. In March and April they would take their yoke of oxen and wagons and haul the wood to the mines. He also spent part of one summer hauling saw logs from Caraboo Canyon to the Mill flat where the Snake Creek tunnel is now located. Bishop John Watkins operated a saw mill there.

In the spring of 1888, he homesteaded 160 acres of land near St. Anthony, Idaho. In the fall of 1891, he met Susanna Gertsch, who had just immigrated to Midway from Switzerland. They were married December 15, 1891 at the Logan Temple. He received a mission call to Switzerland on the 9th of April, 1895. He wrote the following from his life's story—"I sold two beef cows for $16.00 each, a young five-year old horse, weighing 1100 pounds for $45.00, another for $25.00. I received $75.00 from Lundein for letting him in on the Probst ditch. All told, my wife and I had about $400.00 for my mission and it took over $100.00 to take me to my field of labor. All then that I had left was $300.00.

"Among the most interesting towns I visited while on my mission, was Oberwangen. There I visited the old house we had once lived in where the gospel message had been brought to us by such men as Karl G. Maeser, Willard Richards, Theodore Bradley, John Huber and others. It was also the place where we had been baptized and had gone to school.

"Also I visited relatives of my wife in the Bernis Oberland. They were both surprised and happy to see me. It had been only four years since my wife had emigrated."

Farming and peddling was the occupation of John Ulrich Probst. Each Friday he would deliver fresh produce, eggs and chickens to the housewives of Park City. They had a big garden, kept a big flock of chickens, his wife churned butter. Thursday was a busy day, cleaning chickens, churning butter, gathering eggs and helping to prepare the load. His wife was up at 3 a.m. on Fridays preparing the breakfast, warming the big rock (in the winter) for his feet, while he harnessed the team. She also kept a hot meal waiting in the evenings upon his return, which was often at 10 or 11 p.m.

Susanna Gertsch Probst attended the schools of Switzerland. Her earliest recollections were helping to herd cows on the Alps, arising early and making lace to sell to help with their support before going to school.

In 1890, missionaries brought the gospel to her family. It was a glorious time for them, and November 1890 she was baptized in a cold stream of water by Conrad Abeglen. The first song she remembers learning was, "Oh Babylon, O Babylon, We Bid Thee Farewell, We're Going to the Mountains of Ephraim to Dwell." That is just what they did. The dear home that they loved was auctioned off, which provided money for their emigration to Zion.

The voyage over was a trying one, the family being seasick all the way. They arrived, however, in September 1891, and came straight to Midway.

The following children were all born in the family home:

Clarence, married Mary Christensen;
Parley, married Emma Christensen;
Francis, married Alice Galli;
Nephi, married Elizabeth Beck;
Reed, married Cleopha Richards;
Laura, married Vernon Nelson;
Ruby, married Glen Rex;
Owen, married Rosetta Bernards;
Leah, married Arthur Godfrey;
David, married Vivienne Stevens;
Geneva, married Ernil Cook.

Susanna Gertsch Probst has been a member and visiting teacher in Relief Society all of her life, has received many awards for her faithfulness and perfect attendance records. She was also a faithful Primary teacher for several years.

John Ulrich and Susanna Gertsch Probst celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with their eleven children present. Four of their children fulfilled missions. At the time of their marriages all of the children were eligible for temple recommends and were married in the Temples. —

They raised three children of their son, Luke, whose wife had died leaving the tiny tots to their care.

JOHN AND SARAH McAFFEE
RITCHIE

John Ritchie was born November 28, 1843 at Colmornock, Scotland, a son of James and Agnes Robertson Ritchie. - Married Sarah McAfee January, 1867. She was born in Scotland in 1847, a daughter of John and Ann Sharp. John died January 10, 1932. Sarah died June 23, 1919.

Among the pioneers of Charleston were John Ritchie and his wife Sarah McAfee Ritchie. John Ritchie came here at twenty years of age from Scotland. He landed in Heber the next year. Sarah, who also came from Scotland, met John in Heber and soon after they were married and moved to Charleston. They took up land some two miles south of where the town now is. Here they raised their family.

The first school in Charleston, the one their children attended, was just south of their home, held in Sarah Ritchie's father's shop.

By this time a number of families had settled on farms on each side of the river. Later a school was established where the town now is. The children walked more than two miles to school. John Ritchie and Sarah lived for some sixty years in Charleston, before going to Provo. Much of the hay and grain of the valley was produced in the section of the valley where they lived.

They were the parents of eleven children: John M. Ritchie, Mrs. Wilford D. (Sarah Ann) Wright, James Ritchie, Agnes Ritchie died young, Mrs. Joseph S. (Jane) Wright,

JEREMIAH AND RUTH
TUCKER ROBEY

Jeremiah Robey, son of Jeremiah Robey and Mary Ogden Robey. Born April 14, 1809 in Harrison County, West Virginia.

Married Ruth Tucker November 7, 1833. Died November 22, 1903, Midway.

Ruth Tucker was born June 26, 1816 at Shinston, West Virginia, a daughter of Jeremiah and Ruth Ashcroft Tucker. She died in Midway, January 17, 1892.

Jeremiah Robey's parents were among the wealthy, prominent people of Harrison County and had a large family of sturdy sons and daughters. His mother was a sister to Susan Ogden Bigler, the mother of the late Bathsheba Bigler Smith, and grandmother of Edna and Juliena Smith, widows of the late President Joseph F. Smith.

In his early manhood Mr. Robey learned the trade of carpenter and cabinetmaker. He went from one place to another where carpenters were needed, always demanding a good wage. His uncle, Mark Bigler and wife Susan, had become members of the Church and had moved to Nauvoo. Mrs. Robey had also been converted, but her husband had not, he was away in Indiana on a carpenter job. Mrs. Robey decided to go to Nauvoo. She took her three little children and joined the Biglers there. They wrote Mr. Robey that work was plentiful in Nauvoo, so he met his family there in 1841. His wife had been a member of the Church for three years, but as yet he had not been converted.

When they arrived in Nauvoo, they were welcomed by his friends and uncle's family. After remaining in Nauvoo for a short time, she was converted to the Gospel, and was baptized in May, 1841, by the Prophet Joseph Smith. In October, 1842, he was ordained an Elder by Wilford Woodruff.

While in Nauvoo he worked unceasingly on the Temple and was the one to hang the last door. He went through all the trials and persecutions of the saints at that time, but never faltered in his faith. He was very much grieved over the martyrdom of Joseph and Hyrum. After he left Nauvoo he went to Pisgah, where he remained for a time and then went to Council Bluffs and from there he joined the David Wood Company and came to Utah, arriving in Provo in August, 1852. While in Provo, he, in company with Edwin Bunnell, worked as a cabinet-maker and carpenter. He settled in Provo on the advice of his cousin, George A. Smith, who said there was need of carpenters and cabinetmakers in that place. In 1859, he came to Midway and was one of the early settlers of Provo Valley. After arriving here he devoted most of his time to farming, as his second son, Jeremiah A. Robey, had learned the trade of carpentry and could handle most of the work here.

On November 7, 1833, he married Ruth Tucker, by whom he had ten children. In 1876, he went on a mission to his old home in West Virginia and met most of his relatives, whom he had not seen since 1841.

He was one of the pioneer bee-raisers of this valley, and he set out some of the first fruit trees—apple, pear and plum. He raised currants, gooseberries, and strawberries for his own table and had success with celery.

For a number of years he was recorder for the Snake Creek Mining District, and he held the position of school trustee for over thirteen years. He was a quiet, unassuming man. He lived to see his fifth generation and had a picture taken with them. He was always an earnest advocate of the gospel, and loved to bear his testimony to its truthfulness. He impressed upon his family and friends the knowledge he knew that Joseph Smith was a prophet of God. After the death of his wife in 1892, he made his home with his youngest daughter, Matilda Springer, until his death.

After an illness of one week, at the age of 94 years and seven months, he passed away. In his latter days he did a great deal of temple work for his ancestors, both in the Salt Lake and Manti Temples.

Ruth came to Utah with her husband and five children, and settled in Provo. She joined the Church in her native state, West Virginia, in 1838, having been converted by some missionaries who were laboring in that section.

When she left with her children to go to Nauvoo she had no idea she would not return again to her West Virginia home and her people, but she never did, and never saw any of them again. She moved to Midway with her husband and family in the spring of 1859.

She endured many of the trials and hardships incidental to pioneer life, but was always cheerful and contented.

She was hospitable and made every one welcome in her home; no one was turned away hungry from her door. She was a good hand in sickness and helped many who were suffering and in pain. She was always kind to little children and was loved and revered by her grandchildren. At the death of her daughter, Susan, she took her three little motherless girls and reared them to womanhood, caring for them as though they were her very own. The girls were: Sarah Jane Ross, who married Henry Alexander, Jr.; Susan Ross, who married William O'Neil; and Lavernia Virginia Ross, who married Hiram Gould, and later Fred Eder.

She was a sweet singer and used to sing the old-fashioned songs, and tell stories of her early days and experiences in crossing the plains and during the early Indian troubles. She loved to bear her testimony to the truthfulness of the Gospel, and that Joseph Smith was a prophet of the Lord. She was loved and respected by all who knew her. She died very suddenly while sitting in her chair on a Sunday morning at the age of 75 years and six months. She is buried in the Midway Cemetery.

The children of Jeremiah and Ruth Tucker Robey were:

Theophilus Katen, married Sarah Mathews and later Maria Rolfe;

Mary Jane, married Sidney H. Epperson; Susan Luvernia, married James Ross; James Allison, died in infancy;

Maria and Sophia, twins, died in early childhood;

Jeremiah Albert, married Martha Dowdle; Matilda, married Nathan Springer; Twin boys, who died at birth.

Samuel McRae Rooker was born October 5, 1813 at Yorks, South Carolina. His father, Jennings Rooker, immigrated from Ireland. Samuel moved to Mississippi as a young man and married Amelia Woolridge Hundley (her second marriage) on August 5, 1835.

John Bunyon Rooker was born April 25 1840 in Nuxubee County, Mississippi. A short time later the family moved to Texas after the Mexican-Texas war and took up land. As the tempest began to brew which precipitated the Civil War, Samuel and a few other close friends felt they wanted no part in the fighting; so they sold or gave away their land and slaves and left for the west, having heard of the settling of Oregon, Utah and California. They arrived on Cherry Creek, Colorado, and camped on what is now known as Denver the spring of 1858. They decided to stay for awhile as Mrs. Eleanor Hundley was soon to have a baby. This son, named Jefferson Hundley, is claimed by the family to be the first white child born in the Denver vicinity.

Samuel and his son, John, then a young man of 18 years, built a log cabin and have been credited in official Denver history of building the first house in Denver, then known as Auraria. They were given 16 city lots for this honor.

John, a restless young man, engaged in a bit of poker playing during the summer, became involved in a fight over a card game and when the man, Jack O'Neil, came for John with a gun, John was ready and shot and killed him. A trial was held and John was acquitted. After this shooting, the family left and returned to Texas the late summer or early fall of 1858. When leaving they traded their 16 city lots for some horses. They found matters worse than when they left so immediately returned to Denver. A party of six or eight families decided to go west again by wagon and during the early winter went over south pass in Colorado and arrived at a fort in Springville, Utah late in 1858. It was while at Springville that John met his wife-to-be, Mary Elizabeth Smith, born in Pottowettomie County, Iowa, October 6, 1851. They were married at Heber, March 7, 1866.

After checking the land settlement possibilities in the Heber Valley, Samuel decided to go there and was among the first settlers in the old Fort Heber settlement, building a cabin there either the summer of 1859 or spring of 1860. The family moved to Center Creek and Samuel died and was buried there November 16, 1894.

It is regrettable that so little was recorded of the life of Samuel Rooker in the Heber Valley. Even the date of his death has been lost but love for peace and harmony among men made him a good neighbor and a tireless worker for the welfare of his family.

John Rooker joined the Latter-day Saint Church, but was never active. His life was filled with disappointments for his family, as he was a constant user of liquor and spent a great deal of his time gambling. He was, however, an indulgent, kind-hearted and generous husband and father. Perhaps too much so for the good of himself and family. John B. Rooker died at Center while walking home from a visit to his daughter's, Verna R. Blake Allison, home on September 18, 1908. Six children were born of this marriage, John, James, Mary, Sarah, Verna and Thomas.

lev) the same year her parents came, in 1859, but lived in Heber.

When her third child was born she was critically ill and died because of inexperienced medical assistance. The winter had been an exceptionally severe one, and at the time of her death, in April, the snow was so deep it took her father and brother nearly a whole day to reach Heber, a distance of about four miles. Her mother had been with her during her illness and had done everything in her power to save her life. She was an exceptionally sweet woman and was loved by all who knew her. She was always kind and cheerful, fond of singing, and her home was a gathering place of many young people.

After her death her mother took the three children and reared them to womanhood, caring for them as though they were her own. She died as many of the early pioneer saints, for the cause of humanity, and the building of a commonwealth from which future generations might dwell in peace and comfort. She is buried at Heber City, Utah.

the Twelfth North property. They had Christeena, David, Joseph Albert, James Ephraim, Abraham Lewis, Temperance, Elizabeth, Thomas Jay, Minnie and Leo Earl.

His childhood memories are very wonderful. His home was surrounded by tall trees which branched together and almost made a roof over his home. In each corner of the lot was a different kind of fruit tree. In front was a tree that had been grafted and it had both red and white apples on it. They always had a big garden, which was surrounded on all sides by a ditch. There was a cellar with a sandstone floor in it. In one corner of the cellar was a spring and a little ditch ran all around the sandstone floor. His mother always grew beautiful flowers.

Nancy Ella Shelton Smith was born on April 24, 1885, in Heber, Utah. She was the daughter of James Alfred and Sarah Jane McDonald Shelton, and also the eldest child. Her brothers and sisters are: Charles, Leslie, Eva, Jennie, Dora, Leland, Earl, Clyde and Grant. The family moved to Daniel, Wasatch County, Utah.

Leo and Ella Shelton were married on December 13, 1905, in the Salt Lake Temple. They made their home in Provo two years. Here Delsa Smith Price and Alfred Earl Smith were born. Then they moved to Daniel, where six more children were born: Eva Smith Gines, Deon Smith McKnight, Jay L. Smith, Nola Smith Luke, Nyle Smith Bird and Dean Smith. They have 32 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

They have lived in Daniel and helped pioneer and develop it. They helped clear the sagebrush, put in the culinary water, electric lights, telephone, irrigation water and build the Church house and whatever else was to be done. They are both living wonderful lives. Their lives have influenced many in the community.
